From the President.....

Several clubs are well into lessons with a good number of enthusiastic students. The clubs holding lessons are in great need of amgels to come and help. As you make your visitation plans please come early to assist the students.

Our first quarter meeting was a brief one as we started 2015. There were no items of contention and we adjourned in 34 minutes with club announcements.

We need a group of dancers who will participate in a visitation program preferably two squares or even more, to visit the clubs in the HSRDC at regular dances , not specials. This would aid the smaller clubs and also aid the visitation program. Each month I will email a list of suggested nights to go visiting and if enough opt in, we will carpool and join in the club dance. We would visit everyone of our clubs before repeating the cycle. I would also like to extend this idea to our adjoining TSFSRD Districts such as Golden Gulf Coast in Brazoria, Sam Houston in Conroe and Livingston and any others that are close by. These visitations would probably have to be at some kind of special. We could procure a county bus if we make a decision early enough (five months minimum to reserve a Pct 3 bus) We would carpool to our clubs!

Would you like to included in our volunteer program? Just email me back in the affirmative with a n email and phone number that you can be reached at.

Booking a Caller

by Wade Driver

Far too often I see or hear of an uncomfortable situation involving the hiring of a caller for a dance or a dance event such as a festival or convention. Upon investigation of these situations I have found that the majority of problems are due to a lack of proper communication between the caller and the hiring entity. I really don't know if that is due to 1) a lack of knowledge as to what is expected 2) intentional subterfuge or 3) sloppy business practices. None of the above is a justifiable reason for failure of a calling contract to be executed.

CALLERLAB has available for download on its website a "Caller/Club Confirmation Agreement" (attached) that covers all (except in extremely unusual situations) salient points of the contractual agreement between both parties. It is detailed and all inclusive regarding what is to be expected by both caller and club (or organization). Most of the time, any problem that might arise happens prior to the execution of this contract.

One of our primary means of communication these days is email. Almost everyone has an email address and, most of the time, callers are first approached as to their availability and fee using email. Several problems can (and do) arise from this practice:

Once the date, time, fee, etc. are agreed to, one or both sides neglect to follow through on a written contract. Even though the email is considered a legal contractual arrangement, it rarely includes all of the details of the agreement. Therefore, a potential problem arises at the outset.

During negotiations, one or both parties are slow to respond. Maybe the club is talking with more than one caller or maybe the caller is waiting for a better deal elsewhere.

It is very easy to be misunderstood when conversing via email. 99% of all phone calls are free so I strongly recommend that you use it to finalize a deal.

Once the deal is reached, I implore you to use the standard calling contract to finalize the transaction.

There is a place on this contract for special considerations. If you wish to have a cancellation clause added, I suggest you put it in this area. There is always that possibility that either the caller will have to cancel due to illness or some other viable reason or that the event will have to be cancelled or rescheduled, again, for some viable reason. There should be some time limit for that to happen and a listing of recourse in the event it does happen. There should be no misunderstanding about this. Later on is not the time for "he said, she said".

Many times, after I have agreed to the details of a contract, the hiring entity will email me a copy of the contract. The proper procedure at that point is to 1) download the contract 2) check it carefully before signing it 3) sign and date the contract 4) either mail the signed copy back to the hiring entity or scan it into your computer and email back to the hiring entity. Either way, both of you should now have a hard copy of the contract.

Please understand that contract law in this country is just about the strongest law on the books and should be treated as such.

As to the emotional, cultural, and philosophical aspects there are no end to the complaints. Similar to "buyer's remorse" I hear clubs complain that they are paying too much and I hear callers complain that they booked for too little. Get over it guys! Decide BEFORE you sign the contract if it is a price you can live with. Once it is signed, it is too late to renegotiate (unless both parties are agreeable). To go back later and say "oops, I just found out I can't pay that much" is totally unacceptable. This is another good reason for the cancellation clause being included in special considerations.

Another scenario that occurs quite frequently is the change of officers or change of booking agents. If an officer of an organization makes a commitment to a caller for a certain fee, in my opinion, the new officer is bound to honor that contract. Again, a good reason to stipulate this possibility in the "special considerations" area of the contract. Being aware of this possibility can save a great deal of headaches and hard feelings down the road. I very strongly request that all square dance organizations be aware of this possibility and make sure that incoming officers are aware of any standing commitments (in detail).

In summation, I would love to be able to say that the blame for the misunderstandings and subsequent hard feelings of mishandled contracts lies with one party more than the other but I cannot do that since a lack of attention and due diligence lies both with the caller and the booking entity. The only thing that will prevent problems is communication. "Say what you mean and mean what you say!"

Dancing Across Texas....

In keeping with this year's HSRDC theme of Dance Across Texas, I thought I would share with you a wonderful dance weekend we participated in January 30-31. Hip 2 Be Squares in Livingston had their first anniversary and WinterFest. It was a great event with the club caller for H2BS, K. O. Jeanes, and Mike Bramlett. Mark & Pam Prow were cueing. It seemed like everyone had a great time.

The folks in Livingston were so friendly and nice. Everything was very well organized, from the tickets for each event to the sign up for dinner to the giveaways. There was plenty of room to dance and plenty of room to sit. The hall was not air-conditioned, but it was cool enough with the fans going and the windows open (it was January, after all). The hall was nicely decorated with a winter theme. When we arrived, we received a package of literature from the chamber of commerce. I thought that was a nice touch with maps and guides to the county, things to do other than dance.

The weekend schedule was a dance on Friday night with early rounds at 7:00 and squares/rounds from 7:30-9:30 (although I think they ran a little over). Saturday morning there was an intermediate round workshop (some Phase 3 Waltz, but not hard if you've had phase 3) and in the afternoon an easier round workshop. There was also a DBD workshop that Mike & K.O. just had too much fun giving us all a hard time. It was a blast. Saturday evening, they had an optional dinner (either pork loin or chicken for $8.00). Dancing Saturday night was early rounds at 7:00 and squares/rounds from 7:30-10:00. On Sunday morning, from 10:00-12:00 they had Gospel sing along rounds and squares. The whole weekend was $20.00.

They had coffee and water available and some teens were selling soft drinks. There was a refreshment table with snacks (cookies, chips, pretzels) available but we didn't partake. If you keep reading, you will see why. Saturday night, they brought in the popcorn machine and made fresh popcorn. It smelled wonderful.

Rhythm Creations was there on Saturday for your shopping pleasure. I've you've ever watched Jimette & Steve put together their mobile shop, it's amazing. They have it down to a science.

The host hotel for the weekend was the Super 8. There are not a lot of lodging options in Livingston.

We stayed at the Best Western and we know of others who stayed at La Quinta. Price range for lodging was from $60-90 depending on your choices. If you have an RV, you could stay at the site, but I don't know the daily rate. Escapees RV park is a nice facility. I'm not an RV'er, so I could not say how it compares to others sites. There seemed to be a lot of semi-permanent RV'ers on site, whether they are Winter Texans or what I don't know. It's a large park.

Friday night, Darrell and I had dinner at Joe's

Italian Grill. The food was quite tasty. The bread was really good, but I would have preferred olive oil to butter. My pasta combo tasted it was made with fresh pasta, although I asked, and the server told me it was purchased from somewhere. The salad dressing was good, different, a tomato-y vinaigrette, but it was just iceberg lettuce and a little past its peak.

Saturday morning, we opted to try another local place, rather than the pancake breakfast offered at the RV site (it was an optional $5.00, but it came with sausage and eggs, not a bad deal). We went to the Whistlestop Café. I'm not a breakfast person, but I tasted the biscuit and it was good. The grits were awful, but I've yet to find a restaurant that makes grits like I like them. Most restaurants overcook them and water them down. Grits are made to be a little..... well....gritty. The coffee was so-so and the service was okay. Beware, if you are addicted to Starbucks or coffee house coffee, you are not going to find it in Livingston. The nearest Starbucks was in Lufkin, 40 miles away. There was not a coffee house around that we found. We tried both Yelp and Local Scout (Bing), but they came up with nothing. Anyone looking to retire and open a coffee house, Livingston may be your place.

For lunch we went to Catfish King. Our first choice was Florida's Kitchen, but the parking lot was so full, we could not find a place to park. So, we went Catfish King. Hands down, some of the best sweet tea I have ever had. I don't know what they did differently, but it was absolutely delicious. There's only been one other place with better sweet tea and that's a little place I used to go to in North Carolina. It was a good sized portion of lunch for the money. For $6.99 I had chicken tenders, fries, a huge salad from the salad bar (which I was happy with just that). Darrell said the catfish was good too. He had the same meal, only with catfish and his came with hush puppies.

We finally got to Florida's Kitchen for dinner. I heard the ribs were really good. I was still full from lunch, so I had a baked potato. It was okay, sour cream was in a package (but at least it was Daisy brand) and the "melted cheese" looked like Cheeze Whiz. It was okay, but nothing I would go back for. I got a piece of carrot cake to go, because on yelp, there were raves about desserts, ribs and catfish. The carrot cake was good, but I think that from Costco is better.

Good thing we had all that dancing to burn off the calories from all the food we ate. Now you know why we didn't eat much from the snack tables.

You can find out more information about Hip 2 Be Squares at <http://hip2bsquares.weebly.com/> or on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/hip2bsquares>. Be on the lookout for the dates for next year's dance. I encourage you to go. It was a lot of fun.

Have you been on a dancing road trip? I encourage you to send in an article.

Thanks to Frank Hunter for the pictures.
